

Chorus

I can make my home a hav - en with a lit - tle bit of in - gen - u - i - ty.

I can make my home a hav - en with a thing called wo - men's in - ti - nu - i - (Spoken) 1. Wait... Is that the word?

 OK, then that is the first item on my list; Dust off the ol' dictionary, and oh(giggle) use it!

2. Oh, that word!
 ty. There's no reas - on to pro - cra - sti - nate, There's so much to learn; To
 2. I can be a hap - py home - mak - er, I'm start - ing to - day To

May be spoken - - - - - ;

bud - get and to cook. Yes, when I cook, I burn. I'll dec - or - ate my home so it re - make my home a haven There's no ___ time for play. I res - o - lute - ly vow that I will flects the real me. I'll or - gan - ize the clos - ets From junk I soon will be free.

 give it my best, I have my list to fol - low I'll put it to the test.

3

With less enthusiasm. (Stops writing.) My mother always told me that the number one
 I can make my home a hav - en with a lit - tle bit of... rule of housekeeping is to make the bed first thing in the morning. (groan) That should go at the top of the list. (write) Maybe this list thing isn't such a great idea after all.
 I've never liked making my bed.

Much slower -pout (Picks up purse.)
 I can make my home a hav - en but first I have to make my bed.

molto rit.

(waves, exits)
 Lat - er, I'll make my home a hav - en, I think I'll go out shop - ping in - stead. Bye!